

Sprint Report 3

• Actions to stop doing:

Sleeping: it's time for sprint 4 and rest is for the weak.

Losing communication with each other, skipping scrum meetings: School events or exams have been disruptive, but the team needs consistent communication in order to continue productively. We need to restore discipline here.

Procrastination on documentation: There are changing requirements so constantly tearing down old documentation and writing up new documentation can be annoying, but necessary. The more documentation done early the more time you have to finetune the application later.

Avoid accumulating technical debt: if the feature/functionality is built on shaky legs then it is bound to require refactoring or a complete overhaul. This will take time we do not have.

• Actions to start doing:

Testing: Things work at a surface level, when we finish them, but constant retesting is necessary to see if something has changed or broken. Additionally we need to document these tests so that we know how to test it again later.

Applying the belated style guides: (unclear on if this is general ui cohesiveness or code style but never too late to try)

Check ins: with other team members to verify that components are working properly.

Delete stale or abandoned branches: this is clutter and unnecessary for inactive branches.

• Actions to keep doing:

Continue working features at a steady pace.

Team based coding, to knock out quick functionalities and troubleshoot more quickly. Slows down the number of features completed, but makes completed work of higher quality.

Discord communication is consistent, if disorganized.

- Work completed/not completed:

I, the user, want to see the cards of available food.

Cloud based hosting of server, data and document storage established and priority routes are established between front and backend.

Cards are being received consistently from the server, but still require some fine tuning and additional data resources such as images and reservation functionality.

I, the user, would like an account I can log into.

Login, forget password, and similar authentication routes are available but not tested.

Additional functionalities such as updating account information or deleting accounts are not in progress yet.

- Work completion rate:

Prior sprint: maybe two total user stories were completed.

Total number of estimated work hours for the prior sprint was a minimum of 12/wk up to 36 for others.
